

Professor Gonneke Willemsen

Professor Gonneke Willemsen focuses on the causes of individual differences in behaviour and health. She works at the Department of Biological Psychology, Vrije Universiteit, the Netherlands, which houses the Netherlands Twin Register (NTR). She has been instrumental in the setup of the NTR biobank, which has featured in a large number of GWAS studies. In addition to numerous research contributions (<https://research.vu.nl/en/persons/ahm-willemsen>), she is also actively involved in providing feedback to twins. To this aim she set up the NTR portal, where participants can view their individual research contributions and receive personalised feedback. She also developed the two-year Research Master Genes in Behaviour and Health at the Vrije Universiteit (<https://vu.nl/nl/onderwijs/master/genes-in-behaviour-and-health>) to educate future researchers within the field.